

Do you want to be an irresistible city maker?

Then join our workshop at CREATE on 3 October 11.00 – 13.00
Rendsburggade 14, 9000 Aalborg in "Glasburet"

The University of Aalborg (AAU) and Danish Industry (DI) on behalf of Desire invite you to an interactive session inspired by the New European Bauhaus.

The interactive session is part of the ICLEI (Local Governments for Sustainability) conference hosted by Aalborg Municipality on 1-3 October. The conference seeks to challenge local governments to shape a new urban reality, one which is sustainable, resilient, and just and the conference is expected to attract close to 1,000 participants from around Europe.

When transforming our cities to a greener future it takes more than policy makers in its traditional definition of the concept. We need city makers - a broader concept of those forming the city, both, human and non-human. We invite all kinds of city makers to join us in the Irresistible Cities Lab (ICL).

The session will be an interactive and engaging design sprint toward creating concrete images of irresistible circular cities of the future. We invite the participants to develop future scenarios to reflect on and discuss what needs to be taken into consideration when developing thriving and inclusive future cities.

Come join other city makers. The session will be held in English and will be first come first served. The session will be facilitated by Lea Holst Laursen (AAU) and Henriette Thuen (DI). We are leading partners in the EU project Desire \(irresistiblecircularity.eu\)

As we are serving lunch, please sign up by writing to Lea by email: llhl@create.aau.dk informing us of your name, title and who you are representing and if you have any dietary requests.

Please sign up no later than 27 September 2024
